

Workshop Announcement: Leading Change in a Changing World

Montefiore Hudson Valley Collaborative (MHVC) is providing an instructor-led workshop on Leading Change. In this lively and interactive session, Helen Bevan of the English National Health Service (NHS) will help us explore some of the latest ideas, tools and approaches from leading practitioners of large scale change around the globe. Participants will reflect on the practical implications and opportunities for their work in a world where the balance between “old power” (positional power and authority) and “new power” (networks and social movements) is shifting. They will also consider how to build our individual and collective capability for leading change and delivering results in this new world.

About This Workshop

Participants will:

- Learn to recognize opportunities that environments filled with change (i.e. healthcare reform) provide.
- Share collective knowledge and ideas that can be applied to foster others to embrace and lead change (including downstream staff).
- Develop insight into the importance of empowering and inspiring staff at all levels as “change agents.”
- Take home approaches and frameworks that can help deliver change at your own organization.

Presenter: Dr Helen Bevan - Chief Transformation Officer, NHS Horizons

Who Should Attend

- Healthcare professionals in partner organizations experiencing change
- Leadership, “Change Agents” and staff with potential to lead change at your organization, and informal influencers

This unique event marks a new and exciting partnership between the Montefiore Hudson Valley Collaborative, Montefiore Health System and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine and highlights the potential for future collaboration around research related to innovative care models and quality improvement paving the way towards value-based payments (VBP).

About NYCRING: Established in 2003, and one of only a few practice-based research networks (PBRNs) in the US focused exclusively on the urban underserved. NYCRING promotes research and quality improvement to improve outcomes for the patients we serve and enhance the evidence base for urban primary care. Over 35 practices and other stakeholders participate in NYCRING research projects.
